Video of Legislature Meetings Available on County Website

Majority Leader Dan Quatro today announced that video of the most recent meeting is now available on the County website. The online broadcasting of the Full Legislature meetings as well as the committee meetings is the product of a new media system the Legislature approved purchasing earlier this year.

“This new video system highlights the Republican caucus’s continued dedication to providing local taxpayers with an open and accessible County government,” Quatro said. “Posting our meetings online ensures the utmost transparency and provides residents with more access to the decision-making process of the County Legislature.”

The new media system, which consists of two remote-controlled cameras, was paid for through existing funds and does not require additional staff to operate the equipment. The footage of the meetings will be posted the following day and can be viewed on the Legislature portion of the County Website at www.monroecounty.gov. In addition, copies of the Full Legislature Meetings are being forwarded to local community access channels to ensure the greatest possible viewing options.
