After graduating from Old Edison Tech High School with a specialty in Lithography, he began a remarkable forty-one year career with Case-Hoyt as a Lithographer, where he rose to the position of First Pressman and earned the nickname "The Barn Boss." He was a member of the American Legion and was nominated to the National Rifle Association's Legion of Honor. His military service and continued community involvement reflected a lifelong devotion to duty and country; and

WHEREAS, in 1967, Joel married the love of his life, Mary Lou Donofrio. Together they shared fifty-eight years of partnership, laughter, and unwavering devotion, raising four and building a family grounded in love, hard work, and generosity. Joel took great joy in family gatherings, camping trips, and simple evenings surrounded by those he loved most. His home was always filled with warmth, humor, and good food, from his famous ribs and apple pies to his homemade hot sauce; and

WHEREAS, Joel A. Morris was predeceased by his parents, Jane and George Morris. He is survived by his devoted wife, Mary Lou Morris; his beloved children Alan, Kirk (Wendy), Janine (Lee), and Keith (Shirli); seven grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and many more friends and family. He will be remembered as a devoted husband, loving father, loyal friend, and tireless provider. His humor, integrity, and selflessness touched everyone who knew him and he will be missed by all.
