Monroe County Clerk Jamie Romeo and Assemblymember Sarah Clark Partner Bring Passport Services to Residents

(Rochester, NY) – Monroe County Clerk Jamie Romeo partnered with New York State Assemblymember Sarah Clark to host a family passport event, helping residents access passport services and navigate the application process.

The event provided an opportunity for community members to apply for new passports or receive assistance with renewing a passport. Through this partnership, the Monroe County Clerk's Office and Assemblymember Clark's office were able to bring these services into the community making them more accessible and convenient.

"Increasing access to government services is one of the most important responsibilities of my office," said Monroe County Clerk Jamie Romeo. "I am grateful to Assemblymember Sarah Clark and her team for partnering with us on this Family Passport Night. Together, we can more efficiently connect people with the resources they need."

"Having a passport can open up the world but getting a passport can be one more thing for families to fit into an already busy schedule, especially with children. Finding ways to make the process as easy and accessible as possible is important. I am thrilled we were able to host a Family Passport Night at the new Maplewood Community Library community room, a wonderful resource and a welcoming space for families. Bringing services like this directly into our neighborhoods helps make them more accessible to the people who need them. I'm grateful to Monroe County Clerk Jamie Romeo and her team, along with the amazing staff at the library for their partnership and for working with us to give families a convenient way to apply for their passports and start planning their next trip." Assemblymember Sarah Clark.

The Monroe County Clerk's Office remains committed to serving residents through accessible, efficient, and community-focused government services.
