

MONROE COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE

WEEKLY BULLETIN

October 2, 2026

From Monroe County District Attorney Brian Green

Last week, members of the Monroe County District Attorney's Office joined public safety professionals from across New York State for the 2026 DCJS Public Safety Symposium in Albany.

Several of our Assistant District Attorneys whose positions are supported through the Non-Fatal Shooting Initiative and STRIVE grants attended this year's symposium, taking advantage of three days of programming focused on emerging issues, evidence-based practices, violence reduction strategies, technology, data, investigations, prosecution and collaboration across the criminal justice system.

I am proud that our office was also represented among this year's presenters. Community Relations Director Calli Marianetti presented "To the Dashboard & Beyond: Engaging Communities with Data in Monroe County," highlighting our work to make criminal justice data more accessible and meaningful to the community. Sharing what we have learned while also learning from professionals doing innovative work across New York State is what makes opportunities like this so valuable.

The symposium also included the presentation of the 2026 Police Officer of the Year Award. Congratulations to Rochester Police Officer Nicole Amatore, who was recognized by Governor Kathy Hochul as this year's recipient. It is always meaningful to see a member of our local law enforcement community recognized at the statewide level.

Thank you to the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services for bringing together professionals from across the state for another informative and engaging symposium. Continued training, collaboration and the exchange of ideas help us bring new knowledge and perspectives back to Monroe County and strengthen the work we do every day.

Attorneys of the Year

Two members of our office have been named 2026 Attorneys of the Year by The Daily Record and Rochester Business Journal!

First Assistant District Attorney Perry Duckles was selected as a Leader in Law, while Assistant District Attorney Caroline Rodriguez, of our Public Integrity/Economic Crimes Bureau, was recognized in the Up & Coming Lawyers category.

These honors recognize two outstanding attorneys at different points in their careers, but Perry and Caroline share the same dedication to public service, professionalism and the pursuit of justice. Both are tremendous assets to our office and examples of the talented attorneys we are fortunate to have serving the people of Monroe County.

Having two members of our office recognized among this year's honorees is something we should all be proud of. Please join me in congratulating Perry and Caroline on this outstanding and well-deserved recognition!

RBTL Grand Re-Opening

Monroe County District Attorney Brian Green recently joined the Rochester Broadway Theatre League (RBTL) to celebrate the grand re-opening and continued transformation of the West Herr Performing Arts Center. DA Green congratulates the entire RBTL staff and Board of Directors for their hard work and dedication to this exciting project, with special recognition to Arnie Rothschild for his leadership, vision and longstanding commitment to Rochester's arts and cultural community.
