

Flexible Spending Accounts — REAL SAVINGS. REAL SIMPLE.

You work hard for your money, so why not keep more of it? Enrolling in a Flexible Spending Account lets you reimburse yourself for eligible out-of-pocket medical and dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars. That means you can enjoy tax savings and increased take-home pay. And that makes real sense.

What is an FSA?

With an FSA, you elect to have your annual contribution (up to the $3,050 limit set by the IRS) deducted from your paycheck each pay period, in equal installments throughout the year, until you reach the yearly maximum you have specified. The amount of your pay that goes into an FSA will not count as taxable income, so you will have immediate tax savings. FSA dollars can be used during the plan year to pay for qualified expenses and services.

A Healthcare FSA allows reimbursement of qualifying out-of-pocket medical expenses with pre-tax dollars. This benefit makes sense if you or any of your family members have to pay for:

- Out-of-pocket expenses like co-pays, coinsurance, or deductibles for health, prescription, dental or vision plans
- Prescription medications
- Orthodontia care, such as braces, or dental expenses not covered by your insurance
- Eyeglasses or contact lenses or are planning LASIK surgery

A Dependent Care FSA provides pre-tax reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses related to dependent care. This benefit may make sense if you (and your spouse, if married) are working or in school, and:

- Your dependent children under age 13 attend daycare, after-school care or summer day camp
- You provide care for a person of any age whom you can claim as a dependent on your federal income tax return and who is mentally or physically incapable of caring for himself or herself

Plan ahead

Before you enroll, you must first decide how much you want to contribute to your account(s). You will want to spend some time estimating your anticipated eligible medical and dependent care expenses for the upcoming calendar year.

To get a better idea of how much you and your family can save by participating in Flexible Spending, go to <https://fsastore.com/services/FSACalculator.aspx> and use the FSA Calculator.

How does an FSA work?

The amount you elect to contribute to the FSA will be divided by 26 pay periods and becomes a biweekly payroll deduction – but the full amount of a medical FSA is available on day 1.

To continue using an FSA, you must complete a new enrollment form each year.

Run-Out Period

You have until March 31 of the following year to submit your FSA claims incurred during the current plan year. This allows you more time to gather & submit expenses before forfeitures are applied.
