MONROE COUNTY EXECUTIVE ADAM BELLO ENCOURAGES RESIDENTS TO HELP SHAPE MONROE COUNTY'S FUTURE

(Rochester, New York) — What will Monroe County look like for future generations? Will your children want to live here? Will there be job opportunities and an equitable future for your children?

Monroe County Executive Adam Bello wants your input on these and other questions as Monroe County develops Plan Forward — the county's first comprehensive plan in decades. Please participate in planning our future by joining a Plan Forward comprehensive plan public workshop from 6:00 – 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 30, 2022 at the Roger Robach Community Center, located at 180 Beach Ave., Rochester.

The Monroe County Department of Planning and Development will be on site to share information about Plan Forward, and to hear your thoughts about Monroe County's greatest assets and challenges.

Plan Forward addresses global concepts like sustainability, social equity, energy supply & conservation, and climate change adaptation in ways that are appropriate and unique to Monroe County — while at the same time addressing local challenges like accessibility, economic development, recreation, food accessibility, and transportation.
