MONROE COUNTY EXECUTIVE ADAM BELLO ISSUES TRAVEL ADVISORY

(Rochester, New York) – Monroe County Executive Adam Bello is urging residents to use extreme caution on roadways, bike paths and walkways due to downed power lines and trees. There are multiple intersections without operating traffic lights. Dark traffic signals should be treated as a four-way stop.

Wind gusts of up to 70 miles per hour continue and more tree, structure, and power line damage is expected. There are thousands without power.

Emergency crews are clearing roadways once power companies make the conditions safe. The Monroe County Office of Emergency Management continues to monitor the situation.
