Henrietta, NY- (July 3, 2020) - On Sunday June 28, 2020 at 2:02 a.m., Monroe County Sheriff's deputies observed a blue 2012 Ford Fiesta fail to stop at a red light while turning left onto Jefferson Rd at the intersection of East Henrietta Rd and Jefferson Rd in the Town of Henrietta. A deputy stopped the car in the gas station parking lot at 1000 Jefferson Road. The female driver and a male passenger both exited the vehicle and failed to comply with deputies commands to stay in the vehicle. The driver entered the store where the deputy attempted to detain her. The female refused to comply with the deputy's commands and began pulling away, striking and pushing the arresting deputy.

The male passenger followed the deputy into the store and began interfering with the arrest of the driver. The deputy gave the male multiple commands to stay back, the male suspect was yelling obscenities at the deputy and began physically attacking the deputy inside the store. The male suspect struck the deputy in the face multiple times, while the female suspect aided in the attack by pushing and striking the deputy. The female suspect fled the location while the deputy and the male suspect continued to fight inside the store. The male attempted to flee the store and was taken into custody by the deputy just outside of the east entrance to the store. The female was soon located by assisting deputies, hiding behind Boston Market.

The arresting deputy suffered a laceration to the inside of his lip, bruising, pain and swelling to his face, as well as pain and swelling to his right knee, as a result of the altercation.

MCSO deputies charged Marcus McCreary, 39, Gates with: Assault 2nd (Class-D Felony), Obstructing Governmental Administration (Class-A Misdemeanor) and Resisting Arrest (Class-A Misdemeanor). McCreary was transported to Henrietta Town Court for arraignment. The on-call district attorney suggested bail in the amount of $5,000 cash, $10,000 bond. McCreary was released by the judge on his own recognizance. MCSO deputies also charged Jessica Sainz, 26, Rochester, with: Obstructing Governmental Administration (Class-A Misdemeanor) and Resisting Arrest (Class-A Misdemeanor). Sainz was released on an appearance ticket.

MCSO Chief Deputy Michael Fowler stated "We appreciate the courage, dedication, and perseverance our deputies commit to on a daily basis to protect and serve their community. Our men and women answer every call entering the unknown, often without knowledge of the dangers that might unfold without warning. We are truly grateful for their service and thankful that that the deputy was not seriously injured.”
